

Specialist Hearing Services from Hearing Australia

Hearing Australia offers Specialist Hearing Services to help those with complex communication needs, such as:

- Severe or profound hearing loss
- Significant visual impairment in addition to hearing loss
- Other disabilities that heighten communication difficulty

These services are provided under the Community Service Obligation (CSO) component of the Australian Government Hearing Services Program.

What is covered?

The CSO Program is delivered solely by Hearing Australia to meet the needs of clients with complex communication needs[^] who require additional assistance.

Products and services are provided fully subsidised unless stated otherwise, and include:

- Comprehensive assessment of hearing and communication needs
- Specialist advice on making the most of hearing ability
- A personalised program to improve listening and communication in daily life
- Access to fully subsidised hearing aids with higher level technology*
- Selected devices in addition to hearing aids
- Ongoing program of services and support

Who provides these services?

Hearing Australia's specialist audiologists. They have undertaken extensive training and have experience in complex rehabilitative audiology.
